The Godhead Complex

James Dashner

Sadina and the islanders are up against both man and nature as they navigate their way to Alaska. There, they hope to meet the mysterious Godhead, unsure of what separates myth from truth. But the Godhead, now led by Alexandra, is fractured. Within the cracks of their sacred trinity, secrets are revealed that blur the lines of good and evil forever.

After a devastating discovery, Isaac and Sadina are forced to split up. Minho holds the rest of the group together, but it's his beliefs that are slowly falling apart. What once drove Minho to join his sworn enemies is causing him to question everything. When Sadina finds a clue in The Book of Newt, her mission to meet the Godhead becomes even stronger. Isaac and Old Man Frypan come across an enigmatic traveler and learn that the cure isn't what it once was. They are shaken to the core when they realize that the immunes aren't as immune as they should be, and the world as a whole is evolving in a dangerous new direction.

In Alaska, The Godhead and the sacred site of the Maze face something that no generation of Pilgrims before them has ever witnessed. Beliefs will change, futures will be rewritten, and not even the Godhead knows what will happen next.

Passages

Cape Horn and Beyond

Lin Pardey

Passages: Cape Horn and Beyond is a story of challenging passages and ones that embody the romance we all seek by going to sea. At the same time, it is a memoir. As Lin and Larry Pardey sailed north from Cape Horn to Canada, then westward across the Pacific, Lin had to discover ways to weather the emotional passages that come with growing older. This book chronicles the last years Lin and Larry shared, Lin's solo adventures that followed and, eventually, the romance and challenge of building a new life and voyaging onward with David after he sailed in to anchor near Lin's island home. A story that is sure to appeal to sailors of all generations as Lin pours her heart out to share tales of gales and calms, and adventures small and large. It is a love story of sailing, of the sea, and of two wonderful men who shared Lin's life.

About the Author

Lin and Larry Pardey circumnavigated the globe two times, more than 200,000 miles, on boats that they built with their own hands. Sadly, Larry died on July 27, 2020. Since that time, Lin has remained an active sailor. She is a regular at US & Canadian boat shows and will announce the coming release of her new book at the 2024 Annapolis Sailboat Show in Annapolis, MD.

The Boat Life Manual

How to Make Your Dreams of a Life Afloat a Reality

Nicholas Fabbri and Terysa Vanderloo

Do you dream of sailing over the horizon to explore faraway shores?

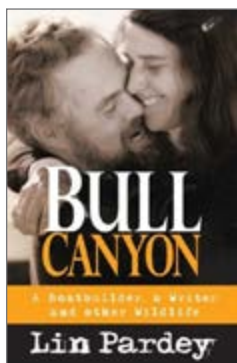

Nick and Terysa, the liveaboard sailors behind the popular YouTube channel Sailing Ruby Rose, have compiled the most comprehensive guide to modern liveaboard sailing after exploring countless new shores on their yacht, Ruby Rose, Nick and Terysa cover everything you need to know and share invaluable hacks, tips and advice for life at sea, at anchor, and while exploring new countries and cultures. They answer questions such as What skills do you need? What is it really like living in the small confines of a boat? How do you finish your adventure not coming home broke?

The Boat Life Handbook has everything you need to know to make the adventure of your dreams a dream adventure.

About the Authors

Nicholas Fabri, a former dentist from the UK and Terysa Vanderloo, a paramedic from Australia, met while backpacking through India. They fell in love and moved to London where Nick introduced Terysa to sailing and seasickness. They documented their adventures for magazines, websites, and their own YouTube channel with over 200,000 subscribers.

Today the couple live full time aboard Ruby Rose II, a 45-foot Seawind 1370 catamaran, detailing their travels while guiding would-be cruisers along the path of yacht ownership and extended sailing adventures.

Bull Canyon

A Boatbuilder, a Writer
and Other Wildlife

Lin Pardey

Nestled in a rocky outcropping of winding dirt roads, Bull Canyon seemed an unlikely place for boat-building. Life there would prove daunting, and dangerous, but Bull Canyon was the place where dreams could come true.

Pardey takes readers on a voyage of the heart, sharing candidly and with humor the four years she and her husband spent in Bull Canyon.

The Story of Larry Bird's
Indiana High School
Basketball Days

Randy Mills

Seemingly just a skinny kid with average basketball skills, Larry Bird was often overlooked, but in his senior year he emerged as a basketball superstar. Throughout his high school basketball career, including only two years playing at the varsity level, he averaged 31 points, 21 rebounds, and 4 assists. While Bird's high school performance may have started off unassuming, it was about to take him farther than he could have imagined years earlier.

The self-proclaimed "hick from French Lick," Larry Bird is a Hall of Fame legend.

FIERCE

My Fight For
Nothing Less

Marian E. Washington with
Vicki L. Friedman

Foreword by: Kathleen Sebelius

Afterword by: Lynette Woodard

The Washington Post called her the Jackie Robinson of collegiate women's basketball coaching. Marian E. Washington traces her humble roots in rural Pennsylvania to the legacy she left for the advancement of women's athletics and African American women.

Washington was the first female President of the Black Coaches Association. She is enshrined in the Women's Basketball Hall of Fame and is a finalist on the Ballot for the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame.

FIERCE is her story.

Do You Remember Elvis?

Chris Edwards

The King of Rock and Roll shook up the music industry with his hip-swiveling dancing and soulful voice. But Elvis Presley wasn't always the King. Growing up, the Presley family struggled. Elvis moved from city to city and eventually landed in Memphis, Tennessee. There, Presley made a connection with the owner of Sun Records where he sang a few tunes that would later become nation-wide sensations. Growing in fame, Presley partnered with Colonel Tom Parker and appeared on the Ed Sullivan Show. Soon after, Elvis Presley was a household name and his records were in high demand. The fame was new to Presley and changed his life forever.

Created for the reminiscent reader, the Do You Remember...? Series takes you back to the good ol' days. Share in the history of beloved icons and learn more about their rise to fame

About the Author

Chris Edwards, EdD teaches history and English at a public high school in Indiana. He is the author of numerous books with Rowman & Littlefield Education and Blue River Press. He is also a frequent contributor to Skeptic magazine and has had his original connect-the-dots teaching method published by the National Council for Social Studies.

Sempé in America

Jean-Jacques Sempé • Introduction by: Marc Lecarpentier

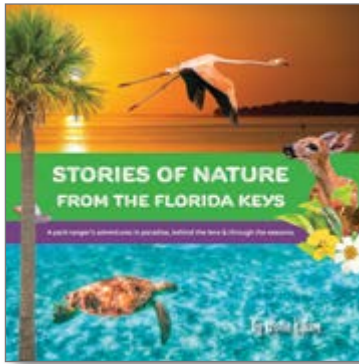

Illustrator: Jean-Jacques Sempé

Everyone has their own idea of America that draws on books, music, films, dreams, and fantasies. French cartoonist Sempé discovered a world that fascinated and astonished him. Though enchanted with jazz, he was sometimes disconcerted by the tremendous freedom that seemed to reign in the country. Nothing about the new ways of life he saw in the streets escaped his attention. Beyond the realism of certain sketches and drawings, the vigilant documentarian always retains his admiration and lucidity, offering us his vision of America through a poetic journey where humor guides the reader with extreme delicacy.

When Sempé passed away at the age of eighty-nine, French President Emmanuel Macron tweeted, "[He] had the grace to always remain light-hearted without ever missing a beat." The tribute was one of many from both sides of the Atlantic; he was the rare Gallic artist who was beloved by Americans but managed to never lose his appeal in the eyes of his compatriots.

About the Author

Jean-Jacques Sempé, usually known as JJ (August 17, 1932 – August 11, 2022), was a French cartoonist. He is known for his poster-like illustrations, usually drawn from a distant or high perspective and depicting detailed country landscapes or cities. For decades, he created covers for The New Yorker.

A Life Lived Amongst Lives Lost

Serving as the Village Undertaker

Larry McElwain with Chris Meggs

The term "village undertaker" sounds antiquated and tends to conjure images of colonial or frontier America. Yet in these modern times, there is a man who claimed this title with pride and carried out the duties of honoring the dead and helping grieving families in a time-honored tradition.

Larry McElwain knew early on this would be his life's work, but the life of a funeral director is not always cloaked in the black robe of death. Whether you are struggling with grief, helping someone during their time of loss, or finding your way in dark times, Larry's experiences can help.

A Collection of Marvellous Things

Gaius Julius Solinus
Translation, introduction
Notes by Arwen Apps

A magical mystery tour of the ancient world by the Roman author Solinus who takes us on a tour of the known world of his time. We will meet unicorns, men "transformed into wolves," deer which swallow snakes, and four-horned serpents. In the midst of all this menagerie of strangeness, we are treated to careful descriptions of all the foreign lands.

The first modern English language translation, with introduction and notes.

Searching for the Palace of Odysseus

Robert Temple

A fascinating unravelling of an ancient mystery, with many photographs, illustrations and detailed textual evidence from original sources.

Speculation about the location of his palace has never been settled until now. The author and his colleague, Professor Ioannis Liritzis, have identified and confirmed it with a key dating result.

The Palace of Odysseus sat on top of a hill on Ithaca, from where it was possible to see three seas. An ancient stone stairway leading up to the site has been dated to the time of Odysseus.

Homer and Aristotle visited the site, a tourist attraction, until at least the fourth century BC.

For Boys Only

Caroline Héroux

For Charlie, 11, writing is for girls... and it's totally uncool, like his older (half) sister Amelia, who hides her diary under her pillow. Looooooser!

Except, when Charlie can't play with his friends because he's, once again, grounded in his room, he has nothing better to do than to talk about his life and frustrations in a notebook. Not a diary!

During school year, Charlie accumulates time-outs, giving him plenty of time to write about his life, friends, and family in this notebook. He also writes about stuff he probably shouldn't...

Summer is looking good for Charlie, and he can't wait to leave for camp.

Of course, he will take his notebook with him, because he knows a lot will happen, and he wants to remember everything!

Those two weeks at KP will be memorable: Campfires under the stars, swimming in the lake, and making new friends! There is also Victor Savage, a young camper who drowned 50 years ago... And, according to some, Victor comes back every summer to haunt the camp... Yikes. One thing's for sure, Charlie will have a lot to write about in his notebook!

Welcome to the Big Kids' World!
Caroline Héroux

BOOM BOOM BOOM

Although he doesn't want to admit it (too embarrassing!), Charlie is way too stressed on his first day of high school.

BOOM BOOM BOOM

In the old (and haunted?) building that is his new school, Charlie is happy to see his friends Max and William. He's excited to meet new friends from the other side of the world.

Charlie's in with the big kids, now! Everything has changed – even Justine. She is taller and more beautiful, and Charlie gets nervous around her. Will he manage to look smart and funny when he finally decides to win her heart?

Peanut and Jelly

The Search for Butter

John A Martucci • Illustrator: LeeAnn Sanders

Peanut the pelican and Jelly the jellyfish are a sea-friends duo that explores the ocean. When a turtle hatchling is missing, they must put their skills together to find the little one. You'll explore the sea with them in a wonderfully fascinating adventure! Their quest just might lead to the creation of one of the greatest trios of all time.

Emphasizing the value of friendship, differences, and community, Peanut and Jelly: The Search for Butter is the light-hearted short story using rhymes that every child can enjoy. This PB&J story will serve to introduce, highlight, and emphasize values for young children while also supporting the conservation of ocean life. This story subtly hints at turtle conservation, while also emphasizing friendship, community, and acceptance in a world of differences.

This title has a dynamic promotional campaign partnership with Georgia Aquarium.

Marketing

Food of the Italian Islands

Recipes from the Sunbaked Beaches,
Coastal Villages, and Rolling Hillsides of Sicily,
Sardinia, and Beyond

Katie Parla

Katie Parla, New York Times best-selling author, Emmy-nominated television host, and leading authority on Italy will entice readers to discover and dream of the Italian islands in her highly anticipated seventh cookbook, Food of the Italian Islands: Recipes from the Sunbaked Beaches, Coastal Villages, and Rolling Hillsides of Sicily, Sardinia, and Beyond.

Food of the Italian Islands contains over 85 recipes, both original and reimagined, that showcase the allures off Italy's coasts, including pane frattau featuring Sardinia's beloved flatbread; bigoli in salsa, a party pasta popular in Venice; coniglio all'ischitana, braised rabbit in the style of Ischia, and torta caprese, Capri's flourless chocolate-almond cake. Tutorials on an array of regional pestos inspire future at-home innovation while instructions for shaping intricate, fresh pasta shapes are handily accompanied by QR codes linking to process videos.

With Parla as the intrepid guide, Food of the Italian Islands delves into the rich culinary and cultural fabric of the destinations, inviting readers to join a highly specialized, curated experience through places never previously documented in English or Italian cookbook form. The book's 21 features provide historical insight while unveiling island traditions and pleasures such as the offal delicacies dominating Palermo's street food scene, urchin diving in Ponza and an overview on the boozy choose-your-own-journey to making rosolio infused spirits. From hitting the unpaved backroads in a FIAT Panda or taking a jaunt through the Venetian lagoon in Katie's fishing boat, Laura, Food of the Italian Island offers full immersion down to the mode of transportation.

The Maze Cutter

James Dashner

Seventy-three years after the events of THE DEATH CURE, when Thomas and other immunes were sent to an island to survive the Flare-triggered apocalypse, their descendants have thrived.

Sadina, Isaac, and Jackie all learned about the unkind history of the Gladers from The Book of Newt and tall tales from Old Man Frypan, but when a rusty old boat shows up one day with a woman bearing dark news of the mainland--everything changes.

The House of Tongues

James Dashner.

David Player has spent 30 years trying to forget the traumas of his childhood. The threats, the kidnappings, the murders. The imagined curses of a people born centuries earlier, passed from father to son, mother to daughter, generation to generation. Its climax came in a monster of a man, one of the most notorious serial killers the nation has ever seen: Pee Wee Gaskins.

Crank Palace

James Dashner

Newt has been to hell and back with his friends. The Glade. The Maze. The Scorch. The inner halls of WICKED. But now he has a burden that can't be shared with Thomas and the others—the Flare. And Newt can't bear the thought of his friends watching him descend into madness as he succumbs to the virus.
